

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Solusia Launches Rebranding to Support Company Direction to Offer Turnkey Wireless and Cell Site Services

ATLANTA – (April 9, 2007) – Solusia, the premiere provider of professional site services for the wireless industry, announced today that it is launching a new corporate logo and rebranding initiative specifically designed to support the company's strategic direction in providing end-to-end, turnkey solutions for wireless operators.

The new logo incorporates key design elements that leverages Solusia's wireless heritage, and communicates a "bolder and expanded" Solusia and its progressive approach to the wireless site services. Concurrent with the launch of the rebranding initiative is the launch of a new Solusia website at <http://www.solusia.com>.

"This new logo is designed to amplify the Solusia brand position and value proposition to wireless carriers, service operators and equipment manufacturers," said Fred Go, Vice President of Marketing. "Solusia is creating quite a buzz with our innovative solutions for site services; our new logo and branding reflects that energy and excitement."

Solusia's SiteScope product portfolio covers all dimensions of a wireless site's lifecycle: from RF engineering to site acquisitions, site modifications and site decommissioning, to backhaul services. By teaming with Solusia, wireless operators attain services that are efficient, cost effective and professional-grade at a national level from a single source.

About Solusia

Solusia, the premiere provider of national, full turn-key site services for the mobile industry has been delivering site design/development services since 1998. Solusia provides single-sourced, high quality, and creative end-to-end solutions to help wireless operators design and build the next generation wireless network. Headquartered in Atlanta with offices in Dallas, Orlando, Boca Raton, and Richmond, Solusia is focused exclusively on wireless and has developed some of the strongest partnerships in the industry. This combination of a comprehensive product portfolio and best-of-breed partnerships allow us to deliver on the vision of full SiteScope wireless services as quickly and efficiently as possible, with the highest possible customer satisfaction. For more information, visit www.solusia.com.

Media Contact: Fred Go
Solusia, Inc
404.601.1100
Fred.go@solusia.com

###